

Proprietor of Garage Prevents Robbery By Two

Hit Twice But Retains Consciousness, Grabs
for Revolver.

BANDITS FLEE IN CAR

Are Arrested By Posse of Officers and Citizens.

TEXARKANA, Jan. 9.—Struck over the head twice with a club, G. A. Ridgeway, 75, of Redwater, thwarted a robbery of his filling station by reaching for a revolver in a drawer and frightening away two youths in a Chevrolet automobile early Wednesday night.

Two youths, Charles Odell Burnier, 19, and Robert M. Lee, 20, both of Bloomington, Illinois, were arrested by a posse of officers and citizens at Maud, six miles from Redwater, in connection with the attack a short time later after a description of the bandits was broadcast.

The two were arrested after a cordon was thrown across the highway just out of Maud. They were driving a Chevrolet automobile and officers said their description fitted that of the men who assaulted Ridgeway.

Proprietor Is Hurt
The aged gasoline station proprietor was unable to go to Maud to identify them due to his injuries. Both of the youths denied any connection with the attack.

Texarkana officer, left for Maud late Wednesday night to bring the pair to jail in Texarkana where they will be viewed today by the Redwater man.

Ridgeway, who suffered severe cuts about the head when struck with a club or a gun in the hands of one of the two bandits, said he was alone at the station when two youths drove up.

"They asked for gasoline and oil and I filled their car up," Ridgeway told friends. "Then one of them asked me if I had a cut-out for a Chevrolet automobile. I said I did and we started into the garage. One man remained in the car."

"I stooped down to get the cut-out from a drawer and as I did so the mug struck me on the head with some instrument which he had evidently pulled from his pocket."

Was Dazed by Blow
"The blow dazed me but didn't knock me unconscious. I threw my hand up over my face and turned partly around. Then he hit me again on the head. I kept my senses and lunged toward a drawer where I kept a revolver."

"When I started for the drawer the man ran from the garage, jumped in the car with the other man and they drove away at a high rate of speed. They were disappearing when I got out of the shop."

Only the fact that the aged proprietor retained consciousness after being clubbed was credited by officers with having frustrated the robbery of the station.

He summoned friends and officers advised neighboring towns to be on the watch for the two youths. Maud citizens and officers, believing that the pair was en route there, posted a guard across the road just outside of the town.

The two Illinois youths were arrested when they drove up. They made no attempt to drive past the cordon. They were held in a Maud café until Texarkana officers arrived.

COLUMBIA, O., Jan. 9.—(AP)—State Supreme Court yesterday rejected the motion of Dr. James H. Snook, former Ohio State University professor, for rehearing of his appeal from a sentence of death in the electric chair, January 31, for the murder last June 13 of Thora Hix, Ohio State co-ed.

Attorneys for Dr. Snook tonight were prepared to appeal to the United States Supreme Court. The ruling today was the last move in Ohio Supreme Court which previously had overruled his dual appeal from the Franklin county Common Pleas Court conviction.

Prisoners Choke Jailer To Escape

R. L. Robertson Attacked
After Entering Cell
At Arkadelphia.

ARKADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—After choking binding and gagging the jailer at 6 last night, two prisoners at the county jail took the keys and walked from the building to liberty. Jailer R. L. Robertson had gone to the jail to feed the prisoners and had unlocked the cell door to carry in some milk, when D. L. Williams, aged 25, and Robert Blair, 26, attacked and choked him.

After the jailer had been choked almost to unconsciousness, the pair tied his hands and gagged him. They took the keys and snatched slowly down the stairs and outside. The keys were found several hours later near the jail.

Other prisoners attempted to attract attention by yelling, but it was some time before Sheriff Alfred Duke heard them and went to the jail to investigate.

Williams was arrested last Monday after he is alleged to have taken an automobile from a negro woman and walked away from an armed farmer who had apprehended him. A farmer with a shotgun was left guarding Williams while another went to summon an officer. Williams announced that he might as well die one time as another and walked away from the farmer. Later he was arrested near Arkadelphia.

Blair was held on burglary and grand larceny charges in connection with the robbery of the Ritchie Grocery Company at Gurdon.

Big Toe Signal of Brain Power, Says Specialist

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Watch your big toe, its behavior tells the state of your brain.

According to a recent medical opinion by an expert the behavior of the big toe is an infallible criterion of the condition of the brain.

If the bottom of the foot is getting stroked or tickled the big toe will probably stick upward when the brain is healthy, according to the expert's dictum.

If it curls downward, have your brain examined, there is something wrong with it.

The action of the other toes can be ignored in the test.

Belgian Princess and Italy's Prince Married at Rome

Couple Are Received By Pope After Ceremony
At Cathedral.

ELABORATE AFFAIR

Kings, Queens, Prince and Princess Guests
At Wedding.

ROME, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Princess Marie Jose of Belgium became the wife of Crown Prince Humbert and the prospective queen of Italy Wednesday morning at a marriage ceremony replete with color and pageantry in the Pauline chapel of the Quirinal palace.

Three kings and two queens, two former kings and three former queens and 28 princes and 26 princesses, crowded into the chapel, social and military personages from many countries.

After the ceremony the young royal bridal couple drove to the Vatican where Pope Pius XI cordially received them and gave them the pontifical blessing and wished them happiness throughout their lives. It was the first time in the history of the papacy that a pope had received and blessed a future king and queen of Italy.

Married by Archbishop
Crown Prince Humbert, who is 23, and Princess Marie Jose, who is 22, were married by Cardinal Maffi, archbishop of Pisa, according to the ritual reserved for royalty.

On one side of them in the chapel stood the assembled kings, queens and princes, and on the other side Premier Mussolini, Marshal Petain, of France, and the military chiefs of Italy.

The royal wedding procession entered the hall of the Royal Guards, adjoining the Pauline chapel, at 10:35 a. m. 35 minutes late for the ceremony.

Princess Marie Jose, accompanied by her father, King Albert of Belgium came at the head of the royal group, and was followed by Belgian and Italian officers.

Then came Crown Prince Humbert and his mother, Queen Helena of Italy, followed by King Victor Emanuel with Queen Elizabeth of Belgium.

100 Guests Present
The procession passed through a crowd of a thousand guests in the hall of the Royal Guards among whom were members of the Italian and Belgian aristocracies, state officials and members of the diplomatic corps. The men were in full uniform of full dress, and the women wore gowns in pastel shades, veils and tiaras.

Among the royal personages were King Boris of Bulgaria, former King Manuel of Portugal, former King Amanullah and former Queen Souraiyah of Afghanistan and former Queen Sophia of Greece.

The actual marriage ceremony was over almost before the distinguished congregation realized that it had begun. Cardinal Maffi pronounced the "I join you in matrimony" about five minutes after the couple first knelt before the altar.

In accordance with old custom an ancient rectangular veil 12 feet long was held over the heads of the royal pair by the count of Turin, the Duke of Abruzzi, the prince of Udine, and the duke of Pistoia, and it was dropped after they had answered "Si." The princess and the crown prince turned to their parents for the final gesture of parental consent, before answering "Yes." The Belgian and Italian sovereigns replied by an inclination of the head.

Then Crown Prince Humbert placed a ring on Marie Jose's finger, and Cardinal Maffi proceeded to celebrate the mass, for which Pope Pius granted plenary indulgence to all these participating.

Hempstead County Receives Publicity

Various Newspapers Tell of Prosperity In This County.

Hempstead County, Arkansas, of which Hope is the metropolis, this year produced 20,000 bushels of cotton, 600,000 bushels of corn, 1,500 acres of hay, 450 cars of watermelons, 500 cars of radishes, 500 acres of sweet potatoes, 350 cars of cantaloupes, 25 cars of tomatoes and 1,600,000 pounds of milk. Now laugh dern ye—Clarksville (Ark.) Times.

Arkansas is not to be laughed at, despite all the jokes that have been cast in her direction for all these years. There are sections of Arkansas that are not only fertile but which also have been highly developed as diversified farming areas and which have a prosperous citizenship as a consequence. Few counties anywhere can match the agricultural record of Hempstead county, as referred to by The Times, we opine. And, it might be remarked in passing, that it is said to say the cotton crop of the county was one of the least contributors to the year of prosperity—Clarksville (Tex.) Times.

Hope may have us skinned a wee bit on the number of bales of cotton, but remember Hope or Hempstead county is 75 years older than McCurtain county. They have us skinned only on one thing that is milk. But McCurtain county will get there later. —Idabel (Okla.) Gazette.

What Paris is Wearing

PARIS—There are whole lessons in geometry to be learned from the Paris shop windows these days. The rue de la Paix, lined with cases of diamonds and emeralds, bearing the names of some of the world's most fashionable designers, is a jeweled version of a mathematics book—with its squares and rectangles and rhomboids worked together in rings and bracelets. The new Paris way of cutting gems, even diamonds as big as lumps of sugar, is to make them all flat planes, with as few angles as possible.

The fine color, and the radiating brilliance, shows up in this fashionable way of cutting diamonds, jewelers say. For example, there is an important style point in wearing a huge square-cut flat-surface diamond ring, like the one pictured, with bracelets that are cut and set in arrangements that emphasize their sparkle.

The bracelets themselves are of the two smart types worn in Paris nowadays. One is of platinum links, diamond-paved. The other is slender and narrow, with rubies set among the diamonds. The second ring uses diamonds only as a background to the center stone, a large sapphire that shows a starry light. —K. D'ORSAY daily at 2 p. m., and at 1 p. m. on Saturday, the performance running continuously through the final night program. There is no intermission at 6 p. m., as formerly.

The new prices are as follows: Ten cents for children any time in any part of the theatre 25 cents in the balcony until 6:30 p. m. 35 cents on the lower floor until 6:30; after 6:30, in the balcony 35 cents, on the lower floor 50 cents. School students are to be admitted for 25 cents any time any place, excepting Sundays and holidays.

Manager Press announced today that other features of the new policy will be revealed soon in the Saenger advertising columns of The Star.

Richard "Skeets" Gallagher, who started his adult life as a law student at the University of Indiana a few years ago, will be seen and heard in "Pointed Heels," a song-and-dance-trimmed play which comes to the Saenger theatre on Sunday.

Gallagher gave up his ambitions to be a second Clarence Darrow when he got a chance to fill a vodvil engagement. He left college and has been a "trouper" ever since.

After serving an apprenticeship on the five-day loop he was promoted to musical comedy and a niche in the Via-Thespis, otherwise Broadway. For Gallagher made a distinguished record for himself on the song and dance stage.

Then came a chance to get into pictures, and Gallagher accepted the offer. He was teamed with Jack Oakie in the Charles Rogers-Nancy Carroll picture, "Close Harmony" and was the other half of the same acting team in "Fast Company" with Evelyn Brent.

Now Gallagher is teamed with Helen "Sugar" Kane in "Pointed Heels." They have the parts of Dot and Dash Nixon, vodvilians to the core who sing and dance and comedy-crack their way through the engaging plot-sequences of this fast-moving show.

William Powell is the demi-villain of the piece and Fay Wray is the heart-interesting female lead.

Wants make the man

BABIES are born with but one want—food. When men grow old, their wants again become few—quiet corners, friendly faces, peace.

But in the years between, men and women are living and developing to the full extent of their powers. Then their wants are legion.

People today are wanting and getting more things that make for complete living than ever before. To these common needs of every one of the advertisements in this newspaper bring invaluable opportunities of satisfaction every day.

It is the function of the advertisements to enable you not only to get what you want—but to get the very best that your money can buy. They help you to decide which automobile, which set of furniture, which radio to buy. They assure you that your wants will be more than met—that they will be wisely and completely satisfied.

The minutes you spend in reading the advertisements may bring you years of satisfaction.

Outlook for the New Year

THERE is a feeling among business men that the country narrowly escaped a panic following the stock market crash late in 1929. But the panic didn't come; and to the bad things that didn't happen last year we are now able to add a few good things which 1930 is going to accomplish.

One of the key industries of the nation is the manufacture of automobiles. It has an important bearing on general business conditions that is not limited merely to the psychological statements of a Henry Ford, raising wages or reducing hours. The motor industry as a whole exercises a sweeping effect for good or bad business over the whole United States.

In 1930 it appears to be beckoning to a new and greater prosperity. We are informed of many radical changes in motor design. One automobile man told this writer yesterday that in a single week there were twenty-seven new "straight-eights" announced by the various manufacturers. It takes more than mere assembly-line workers to produce a new model. Such a drastic change calls upon the tool-makers—and with such a tremendous revolution going on within the ranks of the automobile-makers we can be sure that a good deal of this prosperity will be reflected in the country at large.

Every business man is probably attempting to estimate the effect of the stock market decline, in terms of his own business. It might be interesting to observe that the effect on the newspaper industry was to postpone, rather than destroy, business. National advertising bought and paid for by firms as far distant as Detroit, Philadelphia and New York, was cancelled out of November and December, 1929, but was reordered for January. We imagine that this is the effect observed by business men generally. The whole United States dropped a month or two's business, but by this time in 1930 the condition has righted itself.

There is a universal effort on the part of federal and state governments, and the larger utilities, to take up whatever slack there is with expansion programs; but the actual business condition underneath is reassuring. The United States has always reached out for new business, and regardless what happened in 1929 it is proceeding with interperid courage through the opening months of 1930.

Poor Stuff

OPINIONS may differ as to the rights and wrongs of the recent affair at Newport, R. I., where coast guards shot three rum runners to death; but it is hard to see how there can be any differences of opinion regarding the sequel to the affair, which took place in Boston a few days later.

A group of men met in Faneuil Hall, in Boston, to protect against the coast guards' activities. This, of course, was quite within their rights. But after the meeting they went surging out onto Boston Common, and when they encountered a coast guard recruiting officer there they proceeded to beat him up, so that he finally had to flee for his life in a taxicab.

Setting on an unarmed man who is outnumbered 50 to one is a mighty poor way of expressing dissatisfaction with what that man's comrades in arms may have done.

The Knocker An Asset

"IT TAKES all kinds of people to make a world, or a community, and the knocker has his place," says Edgar G. Harris in his West Point (Miss.) Times-Leader.

"Without the constant complaints and hammering of the knocker, the boosters will soon become slothful, self-satisfied and content, and there would be a letting down in the work of civic improvement. The louder the calamity howls of the pessimist in any city, or town, the harder the boosters work for the betterment and progress of the same.

"So, don't knock the knocker. Let him alone with his little hammer. When the knocker ceases to wield his hammer you can rest assured that West Point will be dead, and has been fended in from the outside world, but as long as the sound of the knocker can be heard, then it is a place worth while in which to live, and will continue to prosper and grow. "God bless the knocker."

WASHINGTON — Excoriation of the National Commission on Law Enforcement and Observance probably will be confined to a few senators whose principal worry in life is whether they can convince dry constituents that it would be a sad blow to prohibition if they were not re-nominated and re-elected next November.

At any rate, when Senator Harris of Georgia roars for an immediate report from the commission on the dry laws and demands the firing of a member who dared to describe the illegal acts of enforcement officers as a problem, he is speaking very largely for himself.

Gets Little Support
The organized dries are not behind him. They do not think that the ideas of Senator Harris are bright ideas at all. And, in fact, whatever the political effect may be in Georgia, neither do many others here.

The crime commission is the first of various Hoover commissions that anyone has tried to monkey with and there is no reason to suppose that the president wants it hectoring or that administration forces in Congress will aid the attempt. There is also little prospect that the insurgents, or progressives, will join in baiting the commission.

Senator Harris, it may be recalled, supported Governor Al Smith, his party's presidential candidate, in 1928. Ever since, according to those who know him best, he has been demanding absurd and outlandish sums for enforcement—which both enforcement officers and dry leaders announced they didn't want—and now he has declared war against the commission.

In the same class is Senator Sheppard of Texas, whose claim to fame is that he lent his name to the measure for the Eighteenth Amendment. Lately, with the election campaign starting him in the face, Sheppard has been beating the drum for a law to make liquor buyers equally guilty with bootleggers—another measure opposed by the organized dries, but politically effective among dry voters.

Senator Glass of Virginia, also a dry Democrat who supported Smith, is in another category. He is still the principal political foe of the famous Bishop Cannon. But Glass wanted this presidential commission to concentrate its attention on prohibition, whereas the appropriation for it finally called for an investigation of other types of law violation and enforcement, and now he claims that the commission has shunted prohibition aside. Glass, however, sharply disagreed with Harris when the latter howled for removal of Judge Paul J. McCormick, the member of the commission who suggested that there was such a thing as "governmental" lawlessness in prohibition enforcement.

"The commission doesn't know enough about prohibition and its enforcement to bring in an immediate report," an important dry official said to this writer. "We want its report to be totally un-influenced, believe it or not. If the report is harmful to our cause we will see that it is filed and forgotten. Nothing will be done about it. But if they are going to do a job that is worth a hang it is going to take them a long time."

Few persons deny that this crime commission is probably the most able federal commission of its size ever appointed. There do not appear to be any fanatical wets or fanatical dries on its roster, a fact which has allowed the commission to go about its research in prohibition and other important phases of law enforcement in an orderly and thorough manner. Judge Kenyon of Iowa, a dry member, is said to have been especially in favor of making the job a prohibition show, but even Kenyon has been known to display judicial temperance on the bench in prohibition cases.

A New Jersey farm hand hung to the tail of an airplane during an eight minute flight. The first aerial passenger we have heard of riding the rods.

Most people who hide their lights under a bushel these days stand around ballyhooing the bushel and charging for guesses as to what's under it.

The trouble with law enforcement in this country, is that private citizens are beginning to think they can do the same things officeholders get away with.

FISHERMEN'S LUCK

after they had subdued him and the judges had given their decision, "tears came to the giant's eyes."

Perhaps he can't fight. As Willie Stribling says, he may be "as open as a church door." Just look at the man's feet and you have had your money's worth. And those "dripping jaws." And imagine, folks, a man-mountain out there crying with fury and disappointment!

Line Farms to the Right

What if he can't block a right to the kidneys? He is four inches taller than Jess Willard.

What if he doesn't know how to put his strength behind a snack to the whiskers? He drags warehouses around on his ankles, folks, and wears a small bandstand as a head covering. Just think of all the small boys who can get jobs carrying him water!

Christmas is over, but for friend husband who has to take back some of those gifts his wife received, the shopping season has only begun.

Gentle Spring Is Near! Baseballers Plan Move

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—(P)—The migration of the baseball birds to training camps will take four of the American league clubs to train in new surroundings.

The Washington Senators will train at Biloxi, Miss., deserting Tampa, where they have warmed up for 10 years; the Detroit Tigers will shift from Phoenix, Ariz., to Tampa; the White Sox will go to San Antonio, training home of the New York Giants. These two last-named clubs have arranged a series of practice games with each other. Boston will shift its training camp from Bradenton, Fla., to Pensacola.

Clubs which will retain their traditional training camp sites are Philadelphia at Fort Myers, Fla.; St. Louis at West Palm Beach, and Cleveland at New Orleans.

Published In The Interest Of Better Farming

Vol. 1, No. 1. Hope, Arkansas, Thursday, January 9th, 1930.

We have things to say from time to time that we can't get the papers to print so we thought we would print a paper in a paper so we will have something to tell you every other week from today.

Farming is beginning to start now and our friends are coming around looking for new tools with which to make a cheaper crop in 1930. Times have changed now and we all have to cut costs.

J. N. Garrett of Bodecaw came in for a McCormick Deering Slat Mold Turning Plow and says it is the only thing to turn sticky soil.

A newly married man asked a much married friend how he could tell when the honeymoon was over and received this reply, "When you can smell onions on her breath."

One of our good customers came in today, and told us to deliver a Farmall to his place when it stops raining. Another good farmer getting better.

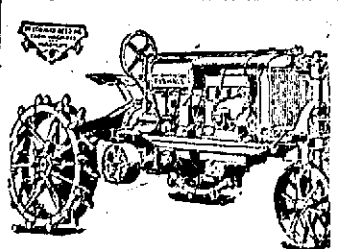

A colored employee of the express company approached the station master with the question "Boss, what we gwine do 'bout dat billy goat. He done et up whar he gwine?"

BE PACHUNT.

"Deer Sir:

"I got your bill what I owe you. I ain't forgot you, please wate. When some other fools pay me I pay you. If this wuz judgment day and you wuz no more prepared to meet yur maker as I am this account you sure would go to hell.

"Hoping you will do this, I remain your very truly."

Of course the McCormick-Deering Farmall has a modern four-cylinder engine! It has a lot of other good mechanical features; that's why Geo. W. Schooley, Hope, Ark., came in and took one out to his place last week. Ask him how he likes it.

When may we give you a real demonstration of the International "Six-Speed Special?"

Good equipment makes a good farm better.

If you are in the market for a Walking Plow, see us first. We handle a full line of McCormick-Deering Walking Plows.

Yours for better farming

Heroine of "Rich People" In This Thing Called Love

While a dance sometimes has opened the road to romance for fame aspirants, it seldom has been responsible for the starting of a career. In the case of Constance Bennett, however, it was the agency that launched her on the road to film stardom. A chance meeting with Samuel Goldwyn at an Equity dance in New York a few years ago, who recognized in this sixteen-year-old convent girl a personality and a beauty that would mean much to the screen and would carry her far in public esteem, gave her the start she longed for.

"This Thing Called Love" which comes to the New Grand theatre today and Friday, was brought to the screen under the direction of Paul Stein and in addition to Edmund Lowe and Miss Bennett its cast includes Zasu Pitts, Carmelita Geraghty, Ruth Taylor, Roscoe Karns, Stuart Erwin and John Roche.

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Why let over-indulgence ruin the flattering curves that make the modern figure so seductive? Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately—when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, light a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the irresistible youthfulness of the modern figure.

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

Breeding The Buck Out of Bronchos Is Latest Innovation In "Far West."

GLACIER PARK, Mont. Jan. 9.—Half-breed saddle horses are the latest innovation in the far west. And they are not to furnish mounts for half-breed Indians either.

Geo. Noffsinger, president of the Glacier Park Saddle Horse Company, has long worried about breaking in the bronchos each spring so they'd be rideable for eastern tourists. Two years ago he introduced a couple of Arabian stallions on the range at the Bar X ranch. Half bronchos appeared as docile colts and Noffsinger believes he has solved the problem of taking the shimmying buck and kick out of the western pony. "He doesn't know what worked this transformation conquest of the East over the West, but says the 38 half-blood broncho-Arabian colts now on the range are all shy this rearing, jumping, twisting trait that helped to make the cowboy famous.

Whether the introduction of this modified western pony will mean the passing of the picturesque cowboy guide, Noffsinger said he didn't care to predict. He's a westerner himself, and apparently does not relish the idea of being marked as the man responsible for obliterating such a romantic humanhood as this type makes up. Nor would Noffsinger say whether he intends to ultimately displace the broncho of the Western plains! He has 1,000 horses which are used as mounts for side-trail trips in the Park.

The company has 30,000 acres of pasture land under fence, running almost the length of lower St. Mary's lake, across Hundson Bay Divide, eight miles to the old stage road and north seven miles, with headquarters at Babb, Montana.

The horses are allowed to run free seven months, and each has to be "topped off" in the spring so as to be gentle enough for tourists. It takes three blacksmiths and three helpers more than a month to nail on the four tons of horseshoes with a quarter of a ton of horseshoe nails.

LESS THAN ONE YEAR OLD, CHILD APPEARS IN TALKIE

Just as "The Early Bird Crows" believe that "the early bird catches the worm," so does a certain film performer believe that the young actor catches the roles.

He is Donald Smith. And he is nine months old. To prove his contention Donald will be seen and heard in his first all-talking part in "The Marriage Playground" today at the Sanger.

Despite the fact that Donald only has three teeth and that he dispenses entirely with written dialog, he is learning microphone technique, so that when he can actually speak lines he will be all set.

When he was seven months old he concerned himself with camera angles in "The Song of the Congo," in which he took the part of Jacqueline Logan as a baby.

Thus his debut is past history and he becomes a veteran in "The Marriage Playground" in which he is "Chip," the youngest brother of Mary Brian, who plays the role of Judith Wheeler.

Fredric March is co-featured with Miss Brian in the leading male role. Other favorites, who comprise the supporting cast, are Huntley Gordon, Lilyan Tashman, Kay Francis, Jocelyn Lee, Joan Standing, David Newell, William Austin, Seena Owen and Maude Turner Gordon.

BEHIND HERM TODAY
JUDITH CAMERON, typist in a New York publishing office, who is snatched by fellow workers to train the interest of ARTHUR KNIGHT, her employer. Knight is a reserved widower, lately since his daughter, TONY, 16, and son, JUNIOR, 10, spend most of their time away from home. Judith functions as knight's life-line here in flowers and caracots. Meanwhile the girl continues to keep mysterious appointments with a young man known only as "DAN."

Knight asks Judith to marry him and she accepts. The next evening she is nervous and distracted and tells him she has something to confess. He listens and refuses to listen. They plan a six weeks' honeymoon in Florida. They are married on a Saturday morning. When they board the liner to sail Judith is proud and thrilled. Then, among the crowd on the dock she sees Dan and tears come into her eyes. The ocean voyage and arrival in Florida harbor are glamorous events for the young bride. Snobbish Mrs. FRANKLIN MONROE WEST tries to patronize Judith. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VII
THEY lay on the farthest, cleanest beach in all the world (so Bermudians will tell you) and Judith sifted the coral sand through her fingers. It fell in soft little heaps which she carefully smoothed away to replace with new ones.

Arthur was stretched out at full length, one arm thrown up to shield away the sun's glare. Judith, her head a mass of damp, gold ringlets, and her bathing suit still moist and clinging, was propped up on her elbows beside him.

"No reason, of course." "Do you know what I am telling myself now and what I tell myself every time I see that blue sky or the bluer water? I saw—Judith, there are no alarm clocks in the world! There are no typewriters, no subways, no letters to write, no cafeterias and never, never, never any boarding houses!"

She beamed on him triumphantly. Knight glanced back tolerantly. "You're happy, aren't you, honey?" "Arthur, dear, I don't see how anyone could be happier."

"I hope that you will be," he said slowly, "when you're well, awakened, Judith."

She was forcing a handful of pink-fingered sand to cascade as it fell. The girl smiled dreamily, absorbed in her nonsensical pastime.

"Try making a geyser."

"All right."

Mischievously she cupped two hands together, scooped them full of sand and then held them directly above Knight's forehead.

"Is this the way a geyser works?"

He reached up, caught her hands and flung the sand away.

"Madam, I must warn you that if you persist—"

"Judith laughed aloud. She threw back her head and the wind tossed the yellow curls to one side.

"It was three o'clock of their fourth day on the islands. With the utmost ease they had drifted into a lazy, delightful schedule of spending nearly every minute from breakfast to midnight out of doors."

AGAIN Judith smiled down at her husband. She found his eyes fixed intently on her, almost alarming in their seriousness.

"Arthur?" she questioned.

He pulled himself up beside her staring directly out at sea without answering.

Then he turned with a smile and took her hand.

"You're like a child on a wild day," he told her.

"Why not?"

She spoke with the little shrug of arms and shoulders which first Knight had thought of as foreign but now he had become accustomed to.

HE was standing beside slight, blond-haired Miss Shaffer, with whom he had just finished a fox trot, when someone tapped him on the arm. Knight turned about to face Mrs. Franklin Monroe West, fellow-passenger on the boat.

"Good evening, Mrs. West."

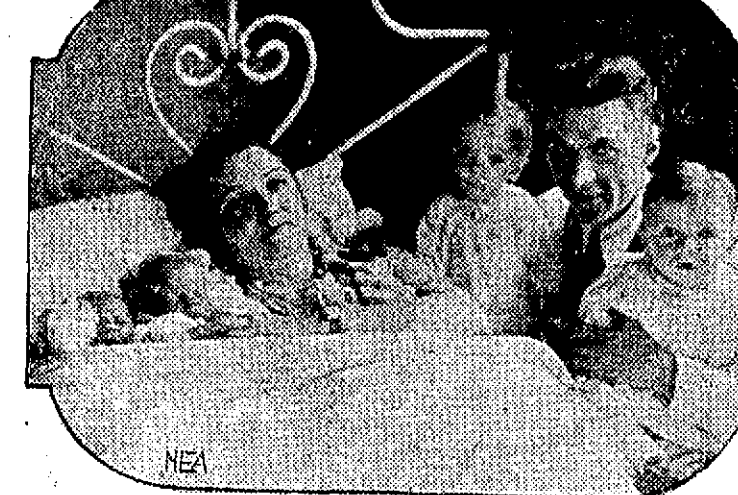

The woman was resplendent in a flowing gown of flame color as daring in line as it was in fabric. She wore silver slippers with jeweled heels to match the dress. There was a flirtatious light in Mrs. West's eyes.

"Dear Mr. Knight!" she said coyly. "All this evening I've been hoping you'd ask for just one dance and I haven't even seen you! I know it's that pretty young wife—she won't let you out of her sight—and I can't blame her!"

"Judith has gone in," Knight told her. "I'm just about to follow her."

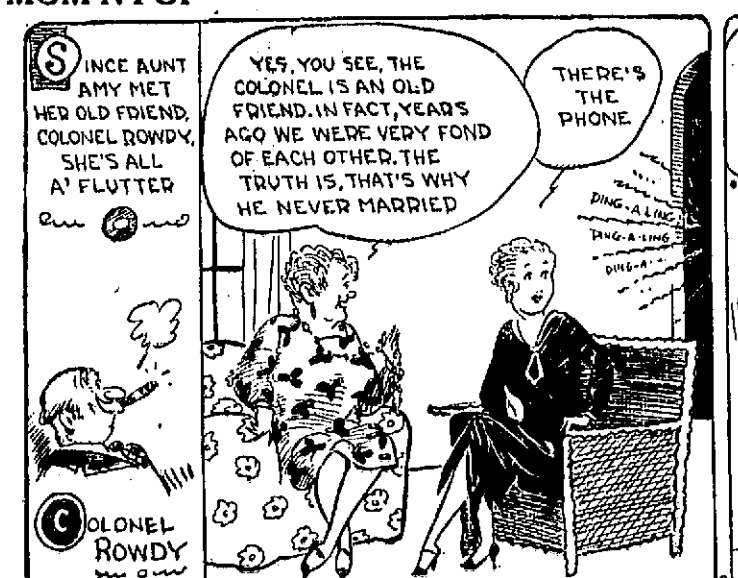

"Oh, but Mr. Knight! You couldn't be so hard-hearted as to leave now. Why, you make me feel like a brazen hussy."

Woman Politician Seeking Alimony

Mrs. Edith Wilkins Born Seeks Separate Maintenance.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Mrs. Edith Wilkins Born, former member of the Texas legislature and who twice ran for the governorship of that state, yesterday appeared before Judge Joseph Sabath of the Superior Court asking for $500 a month temporary alimony pending final disposition of her suit for separate maintenance from Henry A. Born, president of the Born Refrigerating Company.

The charges and counter charges offered to Judge Sabath impelled him to refer the case to Master in Chancery Benjamin Epstein, where the financial difficulties of the couple can be adjusted.

Mrs. Born, who bettered her last marriage, was Mrs. Edith E. Wilkins of Dallas, Texas, was a member of the 1925-26 Texas state legislature. In 1926 she ran against Wm. Ferguson and Dan Moody for governor of Texas and in 1928 Dan Moody again defeated her for the governorship. Mrs. Born, the only woman ever to be a member of the Texas legislature, was appointed a member of the Supreme Court of Texas on a special case in 1925.

Mrs. Born, who is the mother of three daughters by a former marriage and now a grandmother, married Mr. Born last February 28, after a three-year courtship carried on by correspondence.

"Mrs. Born saw my picture in a Chicago paper four years ago and she wrote to me," said Mrs. Born. "We corresponded for some time."

"The first time I ever met Mr. Born was on February 22, 1928, when I was making a prohibition speech in Tulsa. Later, when Mr. Born returned to Chicago he became ill and his daughter, Harriet, wrote me and asked me to come and see him. We were married as soon as he got out of the hospital."

Shortly after our marriage Harriet tried to break up the marriage, telling her father that I married him for his money."

"In the early part of December Mr. Born ordered me out of the house. He struck me several times on the head with his fist."

Mrs. Born verified most of his wife's statements except those of the beating, he was charged with having given her. Mr. Born said that his wife hit him with her fist and then ordered him out of the apartment.

"There is no difference between this case and other well known gold digger cases," Mr. Born said. "I don't know, though, that gold diggers could dig so hard when they were nearly 50 years old."

Madame Curie Irks French Suffragists

PARIS, Jan. 9.—(A)—Mme. Marie Curie is not a woman's woman, dissent suffrage workers anxious to enlist her patronage for the cause of votes for women.

Not only does the famous lady co-discoverer of radium refuse to lend her name to any feminist propaganda, but she consistently fails to reply to letters addressed to her by feminist organizations, according to leaders of the French League for Women's Rights.

France's greatest woman concerns herself with helping women only when they are engaged in her own field.

"Then her assistance is intellectual rather than material and she only renders it to women whose brains and determination have enabled them to help themselves."

Gen. Mitchell's Daughter Lured By Foreign Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(A)—Caroline Mitchell, daughter of Gen. "Billy" Mitchell, former chief of the army air corps, is studying for the foreign service.

With another Washington girl, Miss Eleanor Wells, she is preparing to crash gates which have proven quite difficult for women.

No women succeeded in passing the most recent foreign service examination, although two qualified in the one held last spring and now are occupying posts in Geneva and Beirut, Syria.

Miss Mitchell lives in Washington with her mother Mrs. Caroline Mitchell.

University Annual Given High Honor

Arkansas Razorback Receives All-American Rating

An all-American honor rating was given the 1929 Razorback, junior annual of the University of Arkansas, according to information from the National Scholastic Press association at the University of Minnesota, which sponsored the college annual competition.

The rating given the local yearbook is the highest ranking that is given by the Minnesota authorities and puts the Arkansas annual in a class with the best college annuals published in the country. The 1929 Razorback scored a total of 845 out of a possible 1,000 points. The local book was entered in the competition for universities with between 1,000 and 2,500 enrollment.

The prize winning Razorback was edited by Means Wilkinson, Greenwood, Jim Kays, Fayetteville, was business manager. The 1929 yearbook scored high on make-up and theme, the latter being "A Greater University of Arkansas."

The 1930 yearbook has "The Mountaineer Razorback" for its theme and special attention will be given in the section pages and decorations to the scenic beauties of Northwest Arkansas. It has not yet been decided in the national contest, according to James F. Anderson, Texarkana, editor.

English Prisoners Are Given No Tobacco

LONDON, Jan. 9.—(A)—Edgar Wallace, the writer of mystery thrillers, got one of the biggest surprises of his life when he visited Sing Sing prison in New York and saw convicted smoking cigars.

"Convicts and wardens in a great American prison are just boys together," he told the ship's news reporters on his return here. "The prisoners come out in the exercise yard smoking cigars and doing much as they like."

To an Englishman who knows his prisons this is indeed a surprising confirmation of the tales told of "coddling" convicts in America. For in England a judge takes away more than a man's liberty when he sentences him to prison—he takes away his cigarettes his cigars, his pipe and his chewing tobacco.

Tobacco is smoked and chewed in English prisons nevertheless, but most of it is smuggled in. Only long-term convicts who have won the privilege of good behavior over a period of years are permitted to have tobacco.

The others get it somehow if they can and treasure it so highly that an inch of plug tobacco is as good as money; better, in fact, for money is not worth much to a prisoner until it can be converted into tobacco. Even if he does not use the weed himself he tries to get it, for tobacco is the currency of the convict community.

When cards are played for high taker in an English prison the stakes are bits of tobacco.

Mayor's Job Held Same As Mother's

WATFORD, Eng., Jan. 9.—(A)—A woman who believes that being a mayor is the same job as being the mother of a family—only on a larger scale—has been elected mayor of Watford.

Mrs. A. F. Broad is a firm believer in the maxim that a woman's first duty in life is to her husband and her children, but—"When she has done her job in the home," says Mrs. Broad, "then is the time for her to step into public life. A town is only a family on a larger scale."

This woman mayor, who is a grandmother, has assured her townspeople that she will not interfere with anything to do with roads or any scheme having engineering technicalities about which she knows nothing.

"I shall give my attention to those things only that I know something about," she says. "Others I shall leave to experts. My concern will be the things that affect the ordinary man, his wife and their children."

Sought as Daring Gunwoman

(Copyright, 1930, Pittsburgh Press)
This is the first published photograph of Mrs. Irene Schroeder, 21-year-old blond divorcee, sought as the slayer of Corporal Brady Paul, of the Pennsylvania state police. Paul was killed Dec. 27 near New Castle, Pa. in a gun battle after he stopped a stolen car in which a man, woman and child were riding. Donald Schroeder, 5-year-old son of Mrs. Schroeder, told police at Bellefonte, O., where he was abandoned by his mother that she killed the officer.

Seeks Eielson

Alfred J. Lomen, above, manager of the Lomen Reindeer Corporation, is in Alaska directing relief operations in the search for Ben Eielson, famous aviator, missing for weeks in an attempt to rescue a fur trader's party ice-locked on the east coast of Siberia. One of the planes searching for Eielson also is reported lost.

Dr. F. P. Baker Heads Arkansas Sanatorium

BOONEVILLE, Jan. 9.—The board of directors of the Arkansas Tuberculosis Sanatorium held a meeting at the sanatorium today. Dr. F. P. Baker, superintendent of the Eastern Oklahoma sanatorium at Tallahassee, Okla., was appointed superintendent to succeed Dr. John Stewart deceased. Mr. Fulmer was re-elected as steward and was appointed disbursing agent.

Work on two new buildings and one new hospital building will begin within a short time.

Rush To Storm Cellars When Gas Lines Break

STAR CITY, Jan. 9.—Residents of this section flocked to their storm cellars last night when the 22-inch gas line of the Mississippi River Fuel Corporation broke, south of Cornersville, 14 miles from Star City. The roar from the escaping gas under pressure which conveys it from the Monroe, La., field to St. Louis Mo., was like the roar of an approaching storm.

It did not stop until the 15th day of February, 1930, both days inclusive to the purpose of collecting said tax or assessment.

Given under my hand this 4th day of January, 1930.

BELLE D. AGEE, Collector.

This is not Water, and Sewer District, but Street Improvement District.

"Where Price and Quality Meet"

"Let's get up a Newspaper ad"

This is number nine of a series of ads telling the story of advertising production. Ad No. 8 dealt with the reading of our proof.

"our Ad is Printed--"

Our ad has had its final okeh, it is next placed in its proper position in the page form; locked up, and ready for the press where flat bed printing presses are used. In the case of cylinder presses, this locked up form must go to the stereotype room where a plate of the entire page is made in cylinder form.

In either case our ad has reached its final stages and the printing results we obtain in-so-far as our "Roseanne Dress" illustration is concerned will depend largely on the quality of the mat we have employed.

Advertisers in this newspaper may absolutely rely on printing results obtained with the mats we supply through our Meyer Both General Newspaper Service.
